Recognizing the Warning Signs of Cervical Cancer

January marks not only the beginning of a new calendar year, but also Cervical Health Awareness Month and Cervical Cancer Awareness Month. Although more than 14,000 U.S. women will be diagnosed with cervical cancer this year, screenings and vaccinations help to save countless lives. Since you're far more likely to prevent or survive cervical cancer with an early diagnosis, it's critical to recognize the warning signs and be aware of your risks. In this article, Pegalis Law Group, LLC examines common cervical cancer risk factors and symptoms to create more proactive patients this year and beyond.

What You Should Know About Glaucoma

As one of the leading causes of vision loss and blindness among U.S. adults, glaucoma is a disease that can impact anyone at any time. While there's no cure for glaucoma, it can be slowed or stopped when diagnosed and treated early. January is Glaucoma Awareness Month, a time to reflect on the causes and symptoms of glaucoma to educate people and lessen its impact. In this article, Pegalis Law Group, LLC sheds light on what you should know about glaucoma to remain proactive about your family's healthcare.

"I take this opportunity to express my heartiest gratitude to you for your sincere, intelligent and endless efforts in handling the case. You showed a lot of patience in always listening; even when we got emotional while narrating the incident, you always spent time going to the depth of the case. Although the loss of my mother is irreparable, we have the satisfaction that due to your team's best possible efforts, justice has been meted out to us. Otherwise, we would have lived with the feeling of ignorance and helplessness for the rest of our lives. My family feels proud of you and will always pray for your continued success."
